EPrints is free software used for building and managing Open Archives. There are at least 160 repositories around the world that use EPrints.

EPrints is developed by the University of Southampton, UK.