Dear Colleague,

Welcome to the conference and to the Society. The wide range of sessions, field experiences and events over next few days promise to be both stimulating and enjoyable and I hope you have a great time.

I want to take this opportunity to recognise Stephen Daniels for the enthusiasm and direction he has brought to the conference in his role as Chair. There is ample evidence from the programme that individually and collectively our geographical imaginations have been sparked! I also want to thank all of you - delegates, presenters, chairs, convenors, discussants, leaders of field experiences, research group committee members – for your contributions and your commitment to be here. You make this conference happen.

The Society exists for one purpose only - to advance geography. We work, with you, to give the subject a strong, influential and effective voice. Arguably with the changes happening in university and school education, and in research funding, this advocacy role is more important today than ever. Many of you freely and generously give us your time, advice and subject based expertise to support our work. Some of you also partner with us on projects that share geographical understandings across our networks and communities – schools, community groups, policy makers, the public, business and the media. These have an impact and I thank all of you whose involvement helps us to advance geography with many different audiences. As you know, we also support the research and higher education community, often in partnership with research groups, with events, workshops, grants, publications and online resources, and more.

The Society's work has grown substantially in recent years, such that now each year we have to raise about £5 million just to cover our current activities. The most sustainable source of funds is the subscriptions from our members. Many of you are Fellows and the Society extends a sincere thank you for your support because it makes a real difference.

Advancing geography
and geographical learning

For those who are not Fellows or members, please join us and support our work for geography - tax deductible the cost is little more than £1 per week. And Fellowship gives you a voice and vote in the Society, and this matters too.

While you are here, please take just a little time to find out about the Society's varied but focused work. It ranges from; supporting teachers with resources and professional development events drawing on the latest research, to the Ambassadors programme that enthuses young people about the value of studying geography at university; from opportunities for personal development for disadvantaged young people through fieldwork, to connecting community groups with the Society's historic collections and encouraging reinterpretation and enrichment of them; from engaging and enthusing the wider public with geography through Discovering Britain, a programme of street exhibits and geographical walks, to the advocacy and lobbying we do to secure the recognition, position (and funding) of geography in schools and higher education, and increasingly its recognition by employers through our Chartered Accreditation.

Michael Palin, the Society's President, sends his sincere apologies for not being able to attend (as usual at this time of year, he is at an annual family gathering) but welcomes all of you to the conference. I also welcome you to come and speak to me over the next few days; I am happy to discuss any of the Society's activities, and your involvement, at any time, and to hear your suggestions and ideas on how best to 'advance geography' as we prepare for our strategy 2012-2016.

1. Welcome from the Chair of the RGS-IBG Annual Conference

The conference theme 'The Geographical Imagination' has proved a richly fertile one in British Geography, and is currently highly topical, encompassing creative engagements with a variety of academic disciplines and pressing matters of public engagement too. I am delighted at the enthusiastic response to the theme, in the way the conference has taken shape, in particular how so many research groups in their sessions are exploring the richness of the theme and its many variations, enlarging and enriching the space of the geographical imagination. The conference has attracted a new audience of delegates and speakers, many of whom may not have engaged with a geography conference before, notably the strong artist participation. The conference charts new fields of the geographical imagination and revisits some established territory with fresh vision, exploring unexpected places from innovative perspectives. Papers focus on down to earth matters of fact as well as inspiring flights of fancy, encompassing practice and scholarship, politics and poetics, information and enchantment, the geographies of the economic and environmental imagination as well as the cultural and performative.

The conference theme and more are addressed in the Plenaries and Special Sessions. In 'Writing the Land' on Thursday 1 September Peter Hulme (University of Essex) looks at the ways writers, geographers and artists have imagined the island of Cuba, focussing on the long historical relationship between Cuba and its powerful northern neighbour. Later on Thursday the conference will stage Warplands a new work by Mike Pearson (Professor of Performance Studies, Aberystwyth University) which vividly evokes landscapes at the confluence of the rivers Trent, Ouse and Humber, land made up by warping by letting the silt-laden river flood and settle, and land let go through 'wilding' in a major example of coastline realignment. A viewpoint for these landscapes, an ancient turf labyrinth, forms the figure of the conference logo. On Friday 2 September a panel on 'The Cartographic Imagination' brings together artistic, curatorial, historical and geographical expertise to explore the creative power of maps as media of public engagement. In 'A View from the River' Steven Wainwright (Brunel University) explores the role of the geographical imagination in physical geography, in the writing of river scientist Luna Leopold. Socio-economic flows are explored by Markus Hesse (University of Luxembourg) in 'Cities and flows', their changes over time and implications for policy and planning. In 'Beyond the Neoliberal Zombieland' Jamie Peck (University of British Columbia) considers the aftermath of the great recession and financial crisis (the theme of last year's conference) and emergent Latin American notions of 'post-neoliberalism'. Next year's conference chair Chris Philo (University of Glasgow) considers madness, history and geography in 'A Great Space of Murmurings' on the 50th anniversary of Michel Foucault's seminal Historie de la Folie.

I would like to thank the AC2011 team, notably Stephanie Wyse, with Catherine Souch and Georgina Endfield, for their creative contribution to the conference theme and its actualisation as well as for their energy and efficiency in organizing such a complex event. My thanks also go to convenors of the various research group sessions who are, as ever, crucial to making the conference so lively and engaging. The team of RGS-IBG staff and volunteers will welcome you to the Society over the next three days and I'm confident will ensure the conference runs as well as ever.

I hope you all enjoy the Conference, leaving enriched and enthusiastic, to return next year to its staging in Edinburgh.

Stephen Daniels, University of Nottingham

2. The EUGEO 2011 Congress

The EUGEO 2011 Congress, the bi-annual congress of the European geographical societies also is being held at the Society on Tuesday 30 and Wednesday 31 August 2011. Delegates of AC2011 are encouraged to attend EUGEO sessions too (listed in the conference programme book). To find out more about EUGEO, and the member bodies across Europe, please see the table near the Registration Desk or visit the EUGEO website, W: www.eugeo.org.

3. Registration and general information

3.1. Registration

This is in the foyer of the RGS-IBG on Exhibition Road:

- 08:00 to 20:00 on Tuesday 30 August, Wednesday 31 August & Thursday 1 September
- 08:00 to 15:00 on Friday 2 September

3.2. Meeting Venues

Parallel sessions take place at four venues: the RGS-IBG building (RGS), the Sir Alexander Fleming Building (SAF), Skempton Building (SKE), and Sheffield Building (SHE, also known as the Seminar and Learning Centre or SALC).

The SAF, SKE and SHE buildings are on opposite sides of Imperial College Road, the main route through Imperial College. Each building is easily accessible from Exhibition Road, turning in towards the security barriers. The SKE and SHE buildings are located on the north side of the road (right as you walk in) while the SAF building is located on the south of the road (left). Building entrances are clearly marked on the map on the back cover.

Information desks are in the foyers of the RGS-IBG on Exhibition Road (08:00 to 20:00 daily) and Sir Alexander Fleming Building (08:30 to 17:00 daily).

3.3. Medical, emergencies and security

First Aiders are available at the information desks in the foyers of the RGS-IBG and Sir Alexander Fleming Building at Imperial College. For more serious emergencies delegates are advised to go to one of the local hospitals; the Chelsea and Westminster Hospital, Fulham Road, or St Mary's Hospital, Paddington.

Urgent messages may be left with the Registration Desk:
+44 (0) 20 7591 3027.

The RGS-IBG is located on a busy road. We strongly encourage you to keep your personal possessions with you and to be aware of security at all times. Bags can be left with the security staff at the RGS-IBG (near registration) for safe keeping but we advise you to leave your travelling bag at your accommodation if possible.

When at the conference venue, please wear your delegate badge at all times. Delegates not wearing a badge will not be admitted to the building and will not be able to attend any sessions or events.

3.4. Staff and volunteers

All staff and conference volunteers can be identified by their purple coloured lanyards and coloured name tags. Please do not hesitate to ask them for assistance at any time.

3.5. Conference planning committee

Members of the Conference planning committee can be contacted via the Registration desk at RGS-IBG:

The Chair of the Conference	Stephen Daniels
Head of Research and Higher Education at the RGS-IBG	Catherine Souch
Conference Organiser	Stephanie Wyse
The Press Office	Lis Parham & Steven Toole

We would like to thank Dan Karran for the map that appears on the back of the programme book, and Bryant Longley for the conference programme management software.

3.6. Keep up to date with conference information

Visit the Registration Desk or information desk in SAF to collect a copy of the conference Addendum. This lists changes to sessions and papers since this programme book was printed.

For details of paper abstracts and other session information, visit <http://conference.rgs.org/AC2011> on your PC or mobile device.

Twitter

Share your conference experience with the wider geographical community by including @RGS_IBG and #AC2011 in all your tweets.

Messages for other delegates

Keep in touch with other conference delegates using the delegate noticeboard, near the Registration Desk at the RGS-IBG.

3.7. Eating and drinking at the RGS-IBG and Imperial College

Tea, coffee and water

Tea, coffee and water will be available at the RGS-IBG from 08:00 each morning and in the foyer of the Sir Alexander Fleming Building at Imperial College during the morning and afternoon breaks.

Delegates are encouraged to reuse water bottles and to refill them in the RGS-IBG Ambulatory (the corridor by the Drayson Room) or in the Map Room. All taps at the RGS-IBG dispense drinking water unless specifically signposted otherwise.

Lunch

This is included in the delegate fee and available at the Marquee and Main Hall between 11.45 and 14.30 upon presentation of a lunch ticket. Lunch tickets can be found in your plastic name tag pouch; one is provided for each day you are registered.

Delegates are encouraged to make use of all free space including the Marquee, terrace and garden, as well as Hyde Park and Kensington Gardens opposite. Blankets are available from the Marquee for those who wish to sit in the RGS-IBG garden.

The second floor of the RGS-IBG building is in permanent use by tenants and is not to be used by delegates; thank-you for respecting this.

Special diets

If you have registered any special dietary requests, please make yourself known to a member of the catering staff who will show you where to pick up your special meal in the Marquee.

The conference bar

A pay bar will be available in the Map Room from 17:00 to 21:00 each day.

3.8. Recycling

Building on initiatives in previous years, we remain committed to reducing the conference footprint by sourcing locally, using recycled and recyclable materials, and reducing, reusing and recycling to every extent possible.

We urge all delegates to recycle and to help us in our efforts to sort materials. Please do not contaminate the recycling by mixing food with recycled materials! Water bottles can be refilled (see above).

3.9. Photography

Photographs will be taken at the conference for press and future publicity purposes. If you do not wish to be included in these images, please ask to speak to a member of the press team at the Registration Desk. If you have any queries, contact T: 020 7591 3019 or E: press@rgs.org.

3.10. Computers, email access and technical help

Wi-Fi hotspots cover the entire ground floor of the RGS-IBG building, with the wireless network name "RGS-IBG". No login is required.

A small number of computers and printers will be available for delegates to access their email accounts, work on presentations, or browse for short periods of time. These will be located near the Registration Desk and in the Foyle Reading Room (FRR), accessible via the staircase by the Registration Desk. The FRR will be open from 08:15 to 19:00 on each day of the Conference, closing at 17:00 on Friday.

In addition, there are 24h internet cafes on both Queens Gate & High Street Kensington (see back cover for directions).

For technical help with Wi-Fi, altering your presentation and any other matters, staff will be available. Each presentation room will have a data projector and a facility for PowerPoint, including a laptop. You may not plug your own laptop into the projector. We ask you to bring your presentation on either a USB memory stick or a CD Rom (ideally both in the event that one should fail). Please arrive 20 minutes before the session starts to upload your presentation.

For more information, see section 13 Instructions to speakers for uploading presentations.

3.11. Banks and bureau de change

There are a number of banks at South Kensington and High Street Kensington. There are ATM machines inside South Kensington Underground Station and outside the Student Union shop and canteen at Imperial College (accessed through the Main Entrance to Imperial College). There are bureau de change facilities next to Knightsbridge Underground Station and at the Post Office at Knightsbridge.

3.12. Child care / crèche

Child care facilities are offered by the OFSTED approved company, Mosaic. Child care must be requested in advance. Any enquiries about the crèche should be directed to the Conference Registration Desk at the RGS-IBG Reception. The crèche is located off the foyer of the Sir Alexander Fleming Building at Imperial College.

3.13. Local transport

Transport for London

Plan your travel in London using the Transport for London website:

W: www.tfl.gov.uk/tfl T: 0843 222 1234

Oyster cards are the cheapest way to travel on all public transport in London. A refundable deposit is required for the card (available from London Underground stations).

By underground

The closest underground stations are (see back cover):

South Kensington	(District, Circle & Piccadilly Lines)
High Street Kensington	(Circle & District Lines)
Knightsbridge	(Piccadilly Line)
Gloucester Road	(District, Circle & Piccadilly Lines)

By bus

The following buses all stop close to the Society. Ask at the Registration Desk for directions to the correct bus stop.

Number 9	(between Aldwych and Hammersmith)
Number 10	(between Kings Cross and Hammersmith)
Number 52	(between Victoria and Willesden)

By bicycle

Make short journeys using the Barclays Cycle Hire scheme. Follow the instructions at the self-service bicycle docking stations located around central London. Those nearest to the Society are: Royal Albert Hall on Kensington Gore, in Hyde Park, and on Queens' Gate.

More information about Barclays Cycle Hire:

W: <http://www.tfl.gov.uk/roadusers/cycling/14808.aspx>

Map of bicycle docking stations:

W: <https://web.barclayscyclehire.tfl.gov.uk/maps>
(search for SW7 2AR for those closest to RGG-IBG)

Airport transfers

For London Heathrow, take the Piccadilly Line from South Kensington Station. Allow at least an hour for this journey. Alternatively the Heathrow Express from London Paddington takes about 15 minutes.

For London Gatwick, take the Gatwick Express from London Victoria Station, a journey of about 30 minutes.

For London Stansted, take the Stansted Express from London Liverpool St Station, a journey of about 45 minutes. There is also a coach service from London Liverpool St Station.

For London Luton, take the Terravision shuttle bus from London Victoria Coach Station, a journey of about 65 minutes. Alternatively, you can a train from London St Pancras International Station to Luton Airport Parkway and then catch a shuttle bus to the airport, a journey of about 30 minutes.

4. Visit the local area

The Royal Albert Hall, completed in 1871 houses many famous musical and theatre events including the BBC Promenade Concerts known as the "Proms". For tickets visit the Box Office at Door 12, +44 (0) 20 7589 8212 or visit www.royalalberthall.com. There is also a cafe situated at the rear of the Royal Albert Hall open for breakfast and lunch.

Harrods is only a short walk east from the RGS-IBG, and close to Knightsbridge underground station.

Hyde Park & Kensington Gardens, two of London's most famous Royal Parks are situated opposite the RGS-IBG. Kensington Palace, located in Kensington Gardens, is open for tours daily.

The Albert Memorial in Hyde Park, facing the Royal Albert Hall, was commissioned by Queen Victoria in 1876 in memory of Prince Albert. Recently restored it is currently enjoying a revival of interest.

The Natural History Museum (admission free) open 10:00 to 17:50.

The Science Museum (admission free) open 10:00 to 18:00.

The Victoria & Albert Museum (admission free) open 10:00 to 17:45 daily; 10:00 to 22:00 Wednesdays.

8. Field experiences

Please visit the displays in the Pavilion to find out more about the Field Experiences and the artists/researchers leading them.

8.1. 'Step Outside' - GPS drawing experience

Conducted by Jeremy Wood, www.gpsdrawing.com

Try to draw with satellites to create personal map marks and signs with GPS in Kensington Gardens and other public spaces around the conference. Using a portable GPS unit, your walks can annotate the park and other spaces with new paths and symbols.

How to take part

Visit the Foyle Reading Room to borrow a portable GPS unit and receive short instructions before exploring the local area. Portable GPS units are available on a first-come first-served basis for a maximum of 1.5 hours per person/group.

You will be asked to leave your contact details and a form of ID (e.g. Passport, Driver's License or credit card).

When you return, we will upload the GPS data and overlay your walking route onto a map, and email it to you.

8.2. 'You Are Hungry' - Mapping an Edible Urban Hackney

Led by Mikey Tomkins, www.mikeytomkins.com

Join other delegates in a walk following an edible map of Hackney, which will include a discussion about architecture, planning, and food's apparent exclusion and potential inclusion across the landscape. The conversations held on the walk will contribute to the map's further development.

How to take part

The walks take place in Hackney in East London. Delegates will need to find their own way to the walk starting point (maps can be collected from the Registration Desk). Walks are available at various times throughout the week of the conference. Due to the conversational nature of the walks, there is a maximum of 8 people per walk. Places are allocated on a first-come first-served basis.

You must book your place online before the walk, at:

<http://youarehungry.eventbrite.com>. As these walks are also open to members of the public, conference delegates are invited to use the priority booking code “RGS” to secure a place. Please note that you will be asked to pay a small fee of £3 at the time of booking to cover expenses.

9. Receptions

In addition to the conference programme the following receptions will take place (all located at RGS-IBG unless otherwise specified):

Day	Reception	Time	Location
Tuesday 30 August	Opening drinks, sponsored by Wiley-Blackwell	18:30 to 19:30	RGS-IBG Marquee
	EUGEO Congress Dinner Ticketed event	19:30 to 21:00	RGS-IBG Main Hall
Wednesday 31 August	Postgraduate drinks reception, sponsored by Area and hosted by the RGS-IBG Postgraduate Forum	18:45 to 19:45	RGS-IBG Education Centre
	Antipode lecture reception, sponsored by Wiley-Blackwell	18:45 to 20:00	RGS-IBG Map Room
	Reception for Society Reviewers and Editors Invitation only	19:30 to 20:30	RGS-IBG Council Room
Thursday 1 September	Bulletin of Latin American Research Meet the Editor Drinks Reception - Celebrating 30 years of Latin American Research	17:00 to 18:30	RGS-IBG Sunley Room
	Climate Change Research Group AGM and drinks reception	From 18:45	RGS-IBG Lowther Room

10. Research and Working Group AGMs

10.1. About the Society's Research and Working Groups

The Society's Research and Working Groups bring together active researchers and those with a professional interest in a particular aspect of geography and related disciplines. Most Groups hold their AGMs and the Annual Conference. Throughout the year, group activities include seminars, conferences, workshops, reading days etc.

Joining a Research or Working Group enables you to:

- network with colleagues with similar research interests
- keep up to date with the latest research in your specialised field
- receive information on conferences, workshops and funding opportunities

There are two ways to join a RGS-IBG Research or Working Group:

- For RGS-IBG members, inform the Society of any number of Groups that you wish to join.
- For non-RGS-IBG members, contact the Chair / Membership Officer of Group(s) you are interested in and request to become a member.

To find out more, please visit:

11. Exhibitors and advertisers

The publishers' exhibition is a wonderful opportunity to browse through the latest journal and book publications. Some of the exhibitors have provided inserts in the delegate pack and advertisements in this programme book. Stands may be found in the Pavilion, close to the Registration Desk.

The Society is pleased to welcome the following exhibitors and advertisers:

- Ashgate Publishing
- Elsevier
- Esri Global
- Henry Stewart Publications
- London Mapping Festival
- Oxford University Press
- Pearson Education
- Polity Press
- Routledge - Taylor and Francis Group
- SAGE
- Wiley Blackwell
- Zed Books

12. Posters

Research posters will be on display in the Main Hall on Thursday and Friday, in addition to being displayed in relevant sessions where requested. Poster authors will stand near their posters for questions during lunchtime and Session 3 on Thursday 1 September, when delegates are encouraged to visit them.

13. Instructions to speakers for uploading presentations

13.1. Uploading your presentation

If you are presenting in the Ondaatje Theatre or SAF Lecture Theatre G34, please see the AV technician of the theatre. For all other rooms, please follow these instructions when uploading your presentation:

1. Insert your USB memory stick into the USB socket of the laptop/computer (or insert CD into the CD-Rom Drive)
2. Double click on the my computer icon on the desktop
3. Locate your USB stick, which should be labelled “Removable Disk” (or CD icon if using a CD) and double click to open

4. Drag the PowerPoint file you require onto the desktop.

13.2. Safely removing your USB memory stick

Once you have uploaded your presentation, double click the remove hardware icon in the bottom right hand corner of the screen.

Then select 'Stop' and press OK. You will then get a message “Safe to remove hardware”

13.3. Need more help?

There will be AV technicians around to help – if you have any problems please call Reception (listed in the room) and someone will be sent to help you.

If you need to convert your presentation from Mac to PC format prior to your session, or need help outside the time of your session, please visit the RGS-IBG Registration Desk.

14. Instructions to session Chairs

Many thanks for agreeing to chair a session. Below are a few suggestions to help you:

14.1. Before the session begins

- Please check the programme book and addendum for the speakers in your session. If there are any changes we will attempt to ensure that you are notified before the session. Please check at the Registration Desk for updates.
- Arrive at the room 20 minutes before the session is due to start – your presenters have been asked to do the same.
- Ensure all the speakers have arrived and that they are aware of the running order and have all the necessary AV equipment.
- Then start the session promptly.

We recommend that you:

- Suggest speakers sit towards the front and remain there during all presentations.

If you require assistance please call Reception (a number will be by the phone). In case of an emergency you may also go straight to the Registration Desk or the information desk at your location. First Aiders are available at these locations.

14.2. Timings

Speakers will only need a very brief introduction of name, institution and paper title. In a session of 1 hour 40 minutes, this allows 5 speakers to each present 20 minute papers including questions. Please keep to the times and ensure that the session does not over run.

We have provided signs for you to hold up: '5 minutes to go', '2 minutes to go' and 'Please stop now'. Please use these, as they can be an effective way of managing the session.

If a speaker fails to turn up, we suggest you use the extra time for discussion, rather than allowing the other speakers extra time to present.

14.3. Questions and discussion

Please ask delegates to state their name and affiliation when asking a question.

14.4. Other

Occasionally we may have left some announcements on the speakers table. Please ensure that these are read out to the delegates in your session.

15. Visit the Society's Collections

The RGS-IBG houses an extensive collection of over 2 million maps, books, photographs and documents that span the development of geography, the history of exploration, and illustrate the world's people and places. If you have an interest in the Society's Collections for research or teaching, or just more generally, please visit the FRR and ask for more details.

The Foyle Reading Room (FRR) will be open during the conference from 08:15 to 19:00 each day (closing at 17:00 on Friday). You can access FRR via the staircase in the foyer of the RGS-IBG (near to the Registration Desk).

In the display cabinets in the FRR and Ambulatory are examples of research projects on the Society's Collections – developed by Charlie Withers, Jean de Pomereu and Felix Driver, supported by Jan Turner.

RGS-IBG Fieldwork Apprenticeships

£2,000 for students on academic led field projects

Royal Geographical Society
with IBG

Advancing geography
and geographical learning

Each year the RGS-IBG awards five grants of £2,000 to first year university students to join an academic led overseas research project. This programme supports students who would not otherwise get such opportunities.

Application deadline: 17 February 2012

Further information: Amber Sorrell, Learning and Leading Project

Fieldwork Apprenticeship Case Studies

Ricky Stevens, Queen Mary University, London

Academic mentor: Dr Simon Carr

Project: Sensitivity of Icelandic Glaciers to Climate Change

Ricky assisted with the installation and programming of Automatic Weather Stations and mapping of a small glacier.

Ruby Jurczyk, University of Leeds

Academic mentor: Dr Tim Baker

Project: Long-term forest dynamics in Peruvian Amazonia

Ruby assisted an investigation of pollen records of peat sequences to provide insight into tropical forest dynamics.

Sarah Ollier, University of Manchester

Academic mentor: Professor Ernest Rutter

Project: Magnetic survey of the Carboneras Fault Zone, SE Spain

Sarah assisted with the collection of magnetic field data to create a magnetic map on a project aiming to better understand the internal structure of a major crustal fault zone.

Security of geography/geography of security

The theme is to explore the many intersections between geography and security: meaning both the security of geography and the geography of security. The idea is to work between an 'inward-looking' concern for the well-being of geographical research, learning, teaching and communication, and an 'outward-looking' concern for how worldly geographies are deeply implicated in achieving or compromising the security of environments, peoples and communities. Attention should be given to ways of securing the subject of geography in the face of educational restructuring at schools and financial restructuring of university teaching and research, as well as set against growing governmental (and even popular) demands to show impact, relevance and applicability. Success in this respect may then depend on demonstrating what a geographical perspective – spanning the sciences through to the humanities – can offer attempts at understanding and countering multiple sources of insecurity (environmental, climatic, economic, 'national', digital, personal). A critical sensibility is needed, however, to ensure that the will to create security, whether for an academic subject or in real-world situations, does not descend into simplistic drawing and policing of boundaries around whatever is to be secured. The invitation to all geographers, physical and human, is to ask challenging questions about matters of geography and security which advance intellectual and practical agendas, addressing issues of major scientific and social significance, while also cultivating the institutional supports upon which our own ability to contribute as a subject necessarily depend.
